COLLEGE REPORT September 1975 / Volume 28, Number 7

HOMECOMING OCTOBER 17-19

PARENT'S WEEKEND OCTOBER 24-26

PRESIDENT'S CORNER

Preliminary figures available on September 11th indicate that we have a total of 1360 students enrolled for the fall semester. Of these, 49 are in the special joint program with the Williamsport Hospital School of Nursing. The remaining 1311 persons represent a fulltime-equivalent of 1262 students. We are pleased that this enrollment is well within our projected budgetary figure for 1975-76.

This year we shall be developing a number of interesting special programs for persons who wish to pursue a degree on a part-time basis over a longer period than the traditional four-year stand. We are also studying a variety of certificate and short-term programs for those who have no interest in a bachelor's degree. In addition to these, our goal for the next several years will be approximately 1300 fulltime-equivalent students. We regard this combination of programs as a valuable adjustment to changing times in higher education.

Many alumni, parents, and friends will hear from the college individually as to ways in which they can help prospective students to identify Lycoming as the college of their choice. In the meantime, each of us who has had a good experience with the college can毫不犹豫地 recommend Lycoming to our acquaintances. Higher tuition at an independent church-related college does not mean that Lycoming is unavailable. Adequate financial assistance from a variety of sources is at hand for the student who qualifies.

HAROLD H. HUTSON
President of the College

Opdahl to Assist Jose

DR. ROGER OPDAHL, Associate Professor of Economics, has been appointed Associate Dean of the College. The position is temporary and part-time, and will extend from September, 1975, through May, 1976. Dr. Opdahl will teach two courses each semester in the Economics Department; his primary responsibilities as associate dean will be in the area of curriculum development and evaluation.

A member of Lycoming's faculty since 1963, Dr. Opdahl conducted a study in 1974 entitled "A Fourteen College Study: Responses to Falling Enrollment and Declining Finances" for the Division of Higher Education of The United Methodist Church. A follow-up study dealing predominantly with curriculum is being continued.

New Faculty Appointments Fill Vacancies

Four new members have been appointed to the Lycoming College faculty to fill vacancies created by resignations and retirements.

They include DR. JOHN R. HUBBARD, assistant professor of mathematics; DR. MOON H. JO, assistant professor of sociology; DR. JARI ANNE TAYLOR, assistant professor of modern languages, and MISS SUSAN K. BEIDLER, assistant professor of library services.

Dr. Hubbard graduated from the University of Rochester and earned his master of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees from the University of Michigan. He has been on the staff at Columbus College since 1972.

Dr. Jo completed his undergraduate work at Valparaiso University. He was granted the master of arts degree from Howard University and the Ph.D. from New York University. He has been on the faculty at Eastern New Mexico University.

Dr. Taylor received the B.A., M.A., and the Ph.D. from the University of Illinois. She has been an assistant professor of Spanish at State University of New York at Oswego for the last two years.

Miss Beidler received her B.A. from the University of Delaware and the M.L.S. from the University of Pittsburgh. She has been catalog librarian at Stockton State College, Pomona, N.J., for the last two years.

Dr. Michelini Receives Honorary Degree

CAMPUS NOTES

Dr. Francis J. Michelini (center, left) receiving the honorary degree from President Harold H. Hutson. Assisting (left) is Dean James R. Jose, and (right) Dr. Wallace F. Stettler, president of Wyoming Seminary and Lycoming trustee.

Dr. Francis J. Michelini, president of the Pennsylvania Commission for Independent Colleges and Universities, received the honorary degree of doctor of humanities from Lycoming College at a ceremony held September 3 in conjunction with the annual Lycoming Freshman Convocation. He also delivered the convocation address.

Dr. Wallace F. Stettler, president of Wyoming Seminary and Lycoming trustee, presented Dr. Michelini for the degree, which was conferred by Dr. Harold H. Hutson, president of Lycoming "in recognition for distinguished service to the cause of higher education." Also participating in the ceremony were Dr. James R. Jose, dean of the college, and Robert J. Gluck, registrar.

Dr. Michelini this week began his new duties as head of the C.I.C.U. after having served the last five years as president of Wilkes College. He had been associated with Wilkes since 1955 in both teaching and administrative responsibilities. He is a graduate of Seton Hall University and received advanced degrees from the University of Delaware and the University of Pennsylvania.

Speaking on "Independence--Your Choice," Dr. Michelini commended the freshmen for their decisions to attend an independent college such as Lycoming "because it represents a freedom of choice from a diversity of institutional educational programs, philosophies and faculties" often found at public colleges and universities. "It offers you an environment different from others and unique to Lycoming and provides an opportunity to express your God-given talents, intelligence and free will to truly live as moral human beings," Dr. Michelini told the group.

Parents' Weekend Program

Parents of Lycoming students are invited to attend Parents Week End on campus, scheduled for October 24-26. The program is firming up and includes the following events:

Sunday, October 26

Services at 9:45 and 11:00 a.m.	Morning Worship - Clarke Chapel
	Speaker: Dr. William Muehl, Yale University Divinity School Music by Lycoming College Choir

Parents Week End has been well attended for many years and those planning to stay overnight should make hotel or motel reservations soon. A list of recommended establishments was mailed to parents in August.

Clinics seem to figure largely in WALTER McIVER's schedule these days. In May he started out by being a patient in Wesley Lord Hospital in Greensboro, N.C. In June he was a patient in the Guthrie Clinic in Sayre, Pa. In July he favored Geisinger Medical Center (with Williamsport Hospital tossed in.)

However, in August he conducted the High School Choral Clinic at Wilson High School, West Linn, Pa. In October he will conduct choral clinics in Binghamton, N.Y., and in Haddonfield, N.J.

Walter reports that he is well.

A paper by DR. WILLY SMITH, Chairman of the new Astronomy/Physics Department, appeared in the June '75 issue of Stendek. Stendek is an Ufology journal published in Spain. Flying Saucer Review and Stendek are the two most prestigious publications in the field.

Dr. Smith joined the staff of the University of Valencia during the months of May and June, teaching two courses in Mechanics. During his stay in Spain he also gave several talks on his subject of interest: Unidentified Flying Objects.

Belatedly and with regret, we report the death of MRS. G. RUSSEL SMITH (nee Harriet Roth) on May 19, 1975. She taught in the art department of the seminary and junior college in the late 20's and early 30's, and many alumni of that era will remember her as a gifted teacher.

According to William L. Baker, business manager and student aid director, the Lycoming campus was perhaps busier this year than ever before.

He reports that freshmen and parents attending 2½ day orientation sessions totaled 695, and that 29 different organizations used college facilities for a variety of conferences, seminars and other activities. Altogether, more than 6,100 persons were involved, not counting students attending May Term and Summer Session on campus.

Groups and organizations that may be interested in using college facilities during the summer of 1976 should contact Mr. Baker early.

PRESEASON FOOTBALL OUTLOOK

BRUCE L. SWANGER

Coach Frank Girardi (right) had four quarterbacks from which to choose a starter for the opening contest at Lock Haven. And experience won out. John Johnson (12), a junior who became a regular halfway through the 1974 season, was given the nod in competition with Jeff Logan (11), a sophomore, and two freshmen, Frank Morogiello (15) and Dave Vilushis (13).

A veteran starting lineup supported by a number of outstanding freshmen in the back-up spots briefly describes the 1975 edition of the Lycoming football team coached by Frank Girardi.

Although only one first-year player was expected to start in the opening game at Lock Haven State College, a surprising total of 16, including 10 on offense and 6 on defense, had established themselves as Number One subs at various positions as the season opened. However, the one freshman expected to start was in the lineup only because All-MAC middle guard Mike Prowant, of South Williamsport, fractured a hand in a pre-season practice session and was expected to be lost for at least the first two games.

The apparent strength of the freshmen plus the return of a large number of upperclassmen resulted in an air of optimism in the pre-season sessions, and Girardi is hoping for the first winning season since he took over from Budd Whitehill in 1972. The Warriors were 3-6 last year.

The Warriors greatest strength may be in the defensive line, particularly after the return of Prowant. The 215-pound, 6-3 sophomore will be missed until his injury heals, but his spot has been capably filled by the only starting freshman, Jerry Butler, a 220-pound product of Philadelphia's Archbishop Ryan High School.

Returning veterans on the front line of defense will include co-captain Steve Weigle, of Williamsport, and Frank Kindler, of Camp Hill, at ends, and Andy Fedore, of Portage, and Joe Montagnino, of Brooklyn, N.Y., at tackles. Randy Parsons, of Camp Hill, and Jim Tkach, of Lehighton, will man the linebacking spots.

Although the defensive secondary has all lettermen returning, it is relatively inexperienced. Of the four, two did not break into the starting lineup last year as freshmen until late in the season, and a third is a former offensive starter who will be in the defensive backfield for the first time. Co-captain Jim Rich, of Mechanicsburg, one of only five seniors on the squad, has been an outstanding wide receiver for his first three years but has been switched to defense to help fill the void left by the graduation of all-everything Tom Vanaskie. The defensive corps was additionally weakened by the decision of Tom Heim, a regular in 1974, not to play this year. Senior Joe Klebon, of Shamokin, along with the two sophomores, Tom Rice, of Philadelphia, and Dwight Stilwell, of Staten Island, N.Y., will form the remainder of the secondary defense.

The defensive line, including the linebackers, averages a solid 210 pounds, but their primary weapon is their speed and aggressiveness.

The offense, both the passing and running, should be improved over the 1974 team. John Johnson, of Waverly, N.Y., will probably open at quarterback. The 6-2, 175-pound junior moved into the starting spot late in the 1974 season and led the Warriors to two of their three wins. He will be throwing to veteran tight end John Vanaskie, of Shamokin; split end Jim Jeffries, of Willingboro, N.J., and slotback Randy Steiner, of Rockville, Md. Steiner, a reserve quarterback for the last two years, will be playing the slotback position for the first time.

Bob Weber, of Camp Hill, will be operating from the fullback spot, and Coach Girardi will probably alternate tailbacks Sam Schicatano, of Shamokin; Phil Bellino, of Brooklyn, and Ray Radomicki, of Philadelphia.

The offensive line averages an impressive 215 pounds and should be improved over last year. Center George Retmanski, of Brooklyn, will be flanked by guards Mike Borkowski, of Levittown, and Dominic Johnson, of Willingboro, N.J. The tackle posts will be manned by Barry Belgrade, of Easton, and Joe Serrantonio, of Brooklyn.

FALL SPORTS TEAMS PREPARE FOR SEASON

Coach Nels Phillips began preparations for the 10-game, 1975-soccer season with a veteran 25-man squad that included 13 lettermen, 7 additional upperclassmen with limited experience in intercollegiate competition, and 4 freshmen. Two senior lettermen, Jeff Swenson, of Upper Montclair, N.J., and Al Lockwood, of Rochester, N.Y., will captain the team. Other lettermen include Jim Bowie, of Wynnewood; Pat Cerillo, of Scotch Plains, N.J.; Dave D'Angelo, of Pittsburgh; Bill Haines, of Northvale, N.J.; Jeff Irving, of New Providence, N.J.; Steve Jansson, of Demarest, N.J.; Dave Kennedy, of Dover, Del.; Erman Lepley, of Beaver Springs; Bob Lesnewich, of New Providence, N.J.; Mike Marshall, of Scotch Plains, N.J., and Steve Petner, of Woodstown, N.J.

Virginia Kieser, returning as coach of the field hockey squad after a one-year leave of absence, will be faced with building a team around six lettermen. The remainder of the 19-player squad is relatively inexperienced with 9 freshmen and 4 sophomores competing for the starting spots on the team scheduled to play eight contests beginning on September 17 at Mansfield State College. Lettermen returning include Janet Babcock, of Haddonfield (Cont'd on Page 4, Col. 3)

General Conference Elections

In its quadrennial ritual in June, the lay and clerical members of the Central Pennsylvania Conference elected their delegates to the General Conference which will meet for two weeks in Portland, Oregon, beginning April 27, 1976. More than half of the former Methodists who were elected are trustees or alumni of Lycoming College.

The Central Pennsylvania Conference was assigned a quota of ten former Methodist delegates and ten former Evangelical United Brethren delegates--five lay persons and five clergy each. Former Methodist clergyman, who will attend General Conference, in the order of their election, are:

1. The Rev. Paul E. Myers '67, trustee;
2. The Rev. Donald H. Treese, trustee;
3. The Rev. J. Paul Taylor '50, alumnus;
4. The Rev. Brian A. Fetterman '54, trustee and alumnus; and
5. The Rev. Richard H. Welliver '37, alumnus.

A former Methodist layman, R. Andrew Lady '49, Director of Institutional Relations at Lycoming College, and a former Evangelical United Brethren layman, Paul G. Gilmore, senior member of the Board of Trustees at Lycoming, were also elected delegates to General Conference.

Former Methodists elected as delegates to the Jurisdictional Conference who are alumni include among the clergy:

The Rev. Elwood C. Zimmerman '44, '75; The Rev. John B. Howes '66; and The Rev. Jay A. Saxe '57.

Former Methodists elected as delegates to the Jurisdictional Conference who are trustees include among the laity: G. Jackson Miller and Mrs. Fred S. Gorman.

The Northeastern Jurisdictional Conference of The United Methodist Church, which also meets quadrennially, will be held in Bridgeport, Connecticut, in July, 1976. Of the twenty-one Central Pennsylvania Conference delegates who are former Methodists, 11 of them are either alumni or trustees of Lycoming College. Three of the delegates, Dr. Myers, Dr. Zimmerman and Dr. Howes, hold honorary degrees conferred by Lycoming College.

ALUMNI AND PARENTS OF STUDENTS PLEASE NOTE:

The Registrar wishes to remind all parents and alumni that under present law all requests for official transcripts must be in writing and signed by the person whose transcript is being requested. We regret the inconvenience, but phone requests cannot be honored.

Like Father . . .

When DANIEL B. LITTLE, a recent graduate of East Lycoming High School and a resident of Picture Rocks, entered Lycoming College as a freshman in September on a DeWitt Bodines Scholarship, it was almost like turning back the pages of history to 1949.

In September of that year, Daniel's father, the late C. Daniel Little, also enrolled as a freshman at Lycoming as the recipient of the Bodines Scholarship, which is given annually to a scholastically outstanding graduate of East Lycoming High School.

Both father and son were among the top students in their respective graduating classes at the high school and the elder Little, who died in 1973, went on to achieve similar academic recognition while earning a bachelor of arts degree in political science at Lycoming. He graduated summa cum laude and in his senior year was given The Chieftain Award, considered Lycoming's top individual award for achievement.

Little completed his graduate work at Syracuse University before returning to his alma mater as assistant professor of political science. He was also associated with the Lycoming Ladder Company, Picture Rocks, during his early professional career. At the time of his death at the age of 41, he was administrative assistant to Congressman Herman T. Schneebeli.

Although Daniel will digress somewhat from his father's educational aspirations by majoring in biology rather than political science, he is hopeful that history will continue to repeat in the area of classroom achievement.

Chapel Program Revived

Approximately 25 prominent ministers and laymen from throughout the East will participate in the weekly interdenominational Lycoming College Chapel Series to be presented each Sunday morning in Clarke Chapel during the 1975-76 academic year.

Dr. Charles E. Boddie, president of the American Baptist College of the Bible and the American Baptist Theological Seminary, led off the series on Sunday, September 7. The services will conclude on April 18, 1976, when Dr. Harold Oliver, professor of theology at Boston University, will be the guest speaker.

The chapel series will also include communion services to be offered twice during each semester. They will be conducted by members of the college department of religion. All services will begin at 11 a.m.

In addition to the weekly chapel series available to students of Lycoming, additional services are conducted by student religious organizations on campus. They include the Campus Christian Association, a group comprised of Protestant students of all denominations, which provides social and service opportunities to students of all faiths who wish to participate, and the Christian Fellowship, which meets twice weekly to "worship and praise the name of the Lord Jesus Christ."

Traditional Roman Catholic services are also held each Sunday at 6:30 p.m. in Clarke Chapel. The Rev. John Tomalis, Catholic chaplain, celebrates the mass weekly. He also has an office on the first floor of Clarke Chapel, where he meets with students of the Roman Catholic faith.

Busey Heads MAC Again

DAVID G. BUSEY, director of athletics at Lycoming College, was reelected president of the Middle Atlantic States Athletic Conference at the annual meeting of the conference held at Lehighton Valley College.

Other officers named included Raymond J. Whispell, of Muhlenberg, vice president; David B. Eavenson, of Dickinson, secretary-treasurer; Willis J. Stetson, of Swarthmore, executive director; and John M. Tulley, of Elizabethtown, assistant executive director.

James E. Hazlett, of Susquehanna, and John G. Reese, of Wilkes, were appointed to the conference executive council for three-year terms to fill vacancies.

NEW ASSISTANT COACHES

FRANK GIRARDI's coaching staff of six assistants will have two new faces this season. ROBERT L. GEORGE, varsity football coach at Montoursville High School for the last 10 years, will coach the offensive line, and THOMAS M. SHIVETTS '70 will be in charge of quarterbacks and offensive ends.

Other assistants for the year are JIM GIRARDI, Frank's brother, LARRY TISCHLER '66, STEVE WISER '74, and PAT SCHEMERY.

PAUL PFANDERS, a 1975 graduate of Lycoming College and former member of the Warrior basketball team, has been named junior varsity basketball coach at his alma mater. Pfanders will replace Charlea Sample, who resigned at the end of the current season after six years assisting with the Warrior basketball program.

field, N.J.; Karen Baldi, of Upper Saddle River, N.J.; Beth Cogley, of Ardsenville; Anne Johnson, of Gleamore; Cindy Kellogg, of Wall, N.J., and Nancy Schadler, of Bristol.

Coach Sally Vargo had four returning lettermen to form the nucleus for the fall tennis team as the letters prepared for a seven-match season opening September 17 at Mansfield State College.

The SAMUEL WILLARD '66 MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP for 1975-76 has been presented to Richard D. Leonard '76. He is shown above receiving congratulations from Dale V. Bower, Director of Alumni Affairs. The scholarship was established in 1973 by Sam Willard's widow, the former Martha Fellers, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Fellers. It stipulates that the award go to a deserving junior or senior in need of financial assistance to complete his/her degree at Lycoming. In addition to his studies at the College, he has been serving as a Wycliffe United Methodist Charge of the Central Pennsylvania Conference for the past two years. He will graduate from Lycoming in January, 1976, and plans to enter Lancaster U.C.C. Theological Seminary that same month. He is married to the former Shirley Ford '69. They have three daughters, seven, five and two years of age.

MARGUERITE DERSTINE FORBES reported in a recent letter that she is in excellent health, "much to my amazement!" She also reported that her husband died in 1973. She is living in West Pittston, Pa.

HELEN CLARKE HOLDER has retired from the Sanford City Schools and has continued to live in Sanford, N.C. She has held numerous positions in the school system both on the secondary and elementary level. Before her retirement she worked as an elementary guidance supervisor with children from kindergarten level to and through junior high ages. She counseled with the children, their families and agencies that serve them. Helen left her home town of Williamsport, PA in 1937 to accept her first teaching assignment in North Carolina. She is much loved by the people of that state.

H. ROLAND and ALMA (REEDER) GROSS live in Springfield, PA. They have one daughter and two grandchildren. Roland is a Food Services Facilities Specialist employed by the School District of Philadelphia. Alma is a housewife. Roland remembers the "air mail" messages between the boys on the fifth and sixth floor and the girls on the second and third floor of Old Main. They also remember the singing in the Chapel and the ringing of the tower bell to change classes. When they were on Campus, they were known as the "Dutch and Dutchess."

A. JOSEPH McCABE lives in Williamsport. He is a Job Analyst employed by the Pennsylvania Bureau of Employment Security. Joe and his wife, Frances, have one son, Edward J. Joe enjoys model railroading and photography. In his work, he travels throughout Central Pennsylvania and would be glad to stop to visit with former classmates.

ELEANOR GEHRON HENRY lives in Lancaster, PA. She works as a secretary-receptionist at the Fulton Bank-Akron Office. She has one daughter and a grandson. Her husband, Eugene, died in 1974.

LOUISE CASTNER SANDERSON lives in Naples, FL with her husband, John. They have two sons, and five grandchildren. For hobbies, she enjoys crushed glass and directing a handbell choir. She remembers the first dance ever held on the Campus, and at this dance, she sang in a vocal trio with the orchestra. She and her husband planned to go on a trip to Russia with a group of Lycoming College students during May term. That tour was cancelled at the last minute because of an inability to obtain Russian visas for everyone in the group. We hope they try it again soon.
